

Are You a Follower Yet?

In the aftermath of the recent shake, it became very clear to us how important it is to be able to communicate with parents as quickly and efficiently as possible should the need arise. One simple option for doing this is by using Twitter.

Twitter is a real-time information network that connects you to the latest information about what you find interesting or important to you. At the heart of Twitter are small bursts of information called Tweets. Each Tweet can be up to 140 characters in length.

Diamond Harbour School can use twitter to quickly share information with you as parents/caregivers that may have an impact on you or the children in your care.

These will be school wide, not individual messages.

To receive Diamond Harbour School Tweets

Using your mobile phone, text:

follow dhschool1 to 8987

You should receive two replies. One asking you to join twitter—which you can ignore/delete; the second welcoming you to Diamond Harbour School tweets. You have now successfully become a follower!

Note: You do not need to reply to texts (tweets) received from dhschool1. They are for your information only.
